NEW MATH? No, just a way of pointing out that the traffic death rate at night is two-and-one-half times greater than in daytime. Darkness alone was responsible for over 8,000 traffic deaths in 1964.

RURAL ROUTE - JESSE BLOCKER

BY JOE ACEE

What do rural mailmen do when they retire? Some fish, some hunt, some have been to NRLCA conventions in Indianapolis, and some move to Florida. Take Jesse Blocker, for example, who retired a few years ago at Elba. He frolics about the country on the surf, sand and the sea, and meanwhile watches girls.

At one time he was seen in North Alabama at a parade of bathing beauties. He had one of those mail horses, he called "Old Florida." Then, at another time he was touring the State politicking for some-after Jesse opened the gate "Old Tom" would go through on his own.

Despite the fact that Mr. Blocker is retired, he is usually seen at the State rural carriers conventions, rehearsing old times with some of the old timers still around.

He escaped the Elba flood, a tornado on his morning while on the route, and now he believes he will escape matrimony, and continue his days in single bliss.

Jesse Blocker carried the mail from Elba for over 50 years, first on Route 5 and then on Route 3. He retired on May 31, 1959.

Well Known State
Conservationist Retires

Olin C. Medlock has announced his retirement from the position of State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Alabama after more than 36 years in professional agricultural work in the State.

He has served as head of the Soil Conservation Service since September 1, 1929. He is a native of North Alabama, a graduate of Alabama Polytechnic Institute in Agricultural Science, and holds a Master of Science degree in Horticulture from Michigan State College.

Before coming with the Soil Conservation Service, Medlock served for 7 years as an Assistant Professor of Horticulture at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. In this position he taught and did research work in Horticulture.

In his retirement, Medlock looks with pride to the soil and water conservation accomplishments in Alabama during the past three decades. During his career with the Soil Conservation Service, he has many outstanding accomplishments to his credit. Highlighting his career was an award by the "Progressive Farmer" in 1953 as the "Man of the Year in service to Alabama Agriculture."

Mail Now Says
Postmaster
Robert Cooper

It is urgent that any remaining Christmas mail be sent out over the weekend, Postmaster Robert Cooper stressed today.

In the last three weeks, the nation has witnessed more than 2,000 additional pieces of Christmas mail that can possibly be delivered will reach its destination on time. However, at this time of the year, the strain on transportation facilities and the unpredictability of weather can mean unexpected delays.

Mr. Cooper suggested that mailers consider the use of air mail and special delivery, especially for out of town mail.

He noted that holiday schedules will be in effect on Saturday and Sunday, December 25 and 26. Although Christmas falls on a Saturday and many business firms will be letting employees off Friday, a sufficient number of postal workers will remain on duty to handle the increased mail entering post offices in time for delivery will reach its destination.

Mr. Cooper suggested that mailers consider the use of air mail and special delivery, especially for out of town mail.

IDENTICAL TWIN HEIFERS donated to the Kinston FFA chapter by Mr. Ed Miller, of Route 2, Florida. The heifers will become part of a planned herd of beef cattle to be used as a demonstration that cattle can be produced economically on the average farm of this area.

Looking over the heifers are left to right: Kenneth Messer and Jack Burkell, Kinston teachers; Ed Miller, who donated the calves; Ronald Hall, FFA vice president, and James Helms, the high school principal.

F. W. Wood is the Vocational Agriculture teacher and FFA Advisor and states that the chapter is looking for some land to rent on a long term basis to use in their farming enterprise.

IT SEEMS that there is nothing one can say of Christmas and its coming that has not been said before, and with the most eloquence. That is as it should be. For over the centuries the great figures of religious, art, music and literature have paid Christmas the observance is, it is always new. And it always will be, so long as the Christian ideal and the Christmas tradition remain.

It is a time of feasting and the giving of gifts. But more than that, for all who profess Christianity, it is a time for reflection and for profound consideration of spiritual things. We live in a troubled age - an age of wars, of bitter jealousies and enmities, of restless and often violent stirrings among peoples. It is an age in which discouragement and depression come easily. But the meaning of Christmas can give the perspective we sorely need. We can believe that the problems of this age will somehow, sometime, pass, while the ideals that Christmas stands for are eternal.

Christmas is, above all, for children. Over the centuries, their eyes have sparkled as they gazed upon the tree, and found their gifts, and looked with awe upon the image of the Christ Child. Let us hope every child, wherever he may be, shares in the glories of this coming Christmas, and let us pray that he will live to know a happy and truly peaceful world.

"THINKING OF CHRISTMAS" BY LUCILE K. WOODHAM McRAE

JUST A FEW more days and will be 1966 and the pace of progress quickens as the country heads deeper into the second half of the 60's. According to the magazine Changing Times there's almost total agreement on a sixth year of boom. In fact, they report, there is least concern over a possible drop in business than at any time in the past 15 years.

Looking at next year taxes will be up. At least we'll pay more, despite lower levies on income this year. Social Security tax is the culprit and even employees and self-employed in the lower income brackets will feel the higher taxes. Price boosts can be expected and mortgage interest rates which are pushing upward could increase a quarter to a half percent in a few months. Christmas trade is expected to inflate credit to a level "far above anything in the past" and the biggest source of credit expansion is the automobile. People owe almost 32 billion dollars for the purchase of new cars alone, and there's no sign of a slow-down.

Look forward to 1966 and tax increases and hope for the best and pray for a miracle.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

"Unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." To humble shepherds keeping watch over their flocks in starlit fields, the triumphant message of the herald angels burst forth in fullest glory. And for the Wise Men from afar, the brilliant light of a Star shone in the heavens, guiding them on their way. Then to the sacred manger, shepherds and Wise Men came, to worship and rejoice. Each year, as we hear the Christmas story and welcome anew the Christ Child in our hearts, we find a new meaning for life, a new hope for the future.
For Christmas is not an ancient tale of bygone time. Christmas lives. Christmas is now.
Christmas is ever wondrous, ever radiant with joy and promise. May all its blessings be yours.
